

ARMY 5,000,000 STRONG PLANNED BY SEC. BAKER

No Need To Call Special Session of Congress Says General March

YOUNG MEN TO GO LAST

Boys Under 21 To Be Sent Over Only at the Last, Is War Office Plan

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Aug. 7.—In urging enactment of the administration man power bill extending the draft ages to from 18 to 45 years, Gen. March told the senate military committee today that the war department plans to raise an army of approximately 5,000,000 men, to be raised as soon as possible.

While realizing the importance of the measure Gen. March said he did not believe it was necessary to recall congress before the expiration of the recess, August 24, providing the bill could be promptly brought up then.

About July 30, Gen. March said, the United States decided to enlarge the military program in order to carry out the policy agreed upon at the recent inter-allied conference in Paris, and to speed up the program so as to bring the war to an early conclusion.

Gen. March said that the shipment of men overseas will be conducted on the program now in effect for the present.

Questioned by a senator as to the "change of front" by the war department, Gen. March told the senators that the decision was influenced by the Paris conference.

For the new army program, Secretary Baker and other officials had found it necessary to extend draft ages.

While there are three million men now under arms, officials think there should be approximately 5,000,000 men at home and in France, and in order not to disturb the present draft and to avoid calling men who have been given exemption, the extension of ages is necessary.

Keep Boys On This Side.

From what Gen. March and others said, members of the committee gained the impression that while men from 18 to 45 will be subject to military duty under the new law, it is proposed that men from 18 to 20 be kept in this country until the last.

To Draft for Navy?

Upon the suggestion of Senator Wadsworth that the draft system be extended to take in the navy, Senator Chamberlain announced that either Secretary Daniels or Admiral Benson would be asked tomorrow to come before the senate committee to discuss the advisability of the subject.

The prohibition controversy may hold up consideration of the draft law.

DIXON YOUNG MAN IS INJURED IN FRANCE

Sergeant Roy Smith Thrown From Horse—Leg and Two Ribs Broken

NOT AT THE FRONT

Mrs. H. W. Stevens received a letter this morning from her son, Sgt. Howard Metzler, of the ordnance corps, 123 H. F. A., 33rd Division, telling of the injuries Color Sergeant Roy Smith of this city received when thrown from his horse on July 13, while not on active duty at the front. He suffered a broken limb and two broken ribs.

Sergeant Metzler also told of the celebration of Bastille Day, July 14, by the American troops in France. He said there was a large parade wherever there were American in a camp or connected with headquarters.

From observations in France, Sgt. Metzler has come to the conclusion that the American boys are the "craziest" and happiest bunch of boys on earth. He says that a common sight is an American soldier going down the street with a French soldier on either arm, the American shouting "Vive Français" and the Frenchman "Vive Amerika."

ARMY TRUCKS ARE DUE HERE

Many Dixon people will be on the watch tonight and tomorrow for a big train of motor trucks which are traveling overland from the Pacific to the Atlantic with food supplies for the Australian army in France, and which are due in Chicago to Aug. 9th. Reports from the west a few days ago were to the effect that the trucks were ahead of their schedule and if they have been able to maintain the progress they were making at that time, it is believed that they should pass through this city tomorrow.

WAR'S END IS LONG WAY OFF VETERAN ENGLISH ARMY SAYS

Capt. Lee Nichols Made A Fine Address at Assembly Last Evening

HE PLEADS FOR UNION SAYS AMERICA AND ENGLAND MUST STAND TOGETHER UNTIL WAR ENDS

Lieut. Lee Nichols, of London, who served nearly two years at the front as a member of the Honorable Artillery Regiment of England, a regiment 800 years old, the organization having participated in every battle fought during the history of England, addressed a large audience at the Assembly last night, and gave an interesting and entertaining talk on war conditions abroad.

Lieut. Nichols was a lecturing partner of Capt. Knyvett of Australia, whom Dixon people knew and admired so much. Capt. Knyvett died in New York City some months ago. Nichols and Knyvett were close friends, coming to America together. Both have done a wonderful work for England's cause in America.

The address last night was an earnest appeal to Americans to aid England in this awful struggle across the sea. Nichols is on a furlough sent here by the British government to plead the cause in which America and England are now engaged. Nichols has seen much service, is highly educated, being of the first families of England, saw service in the battles of the Ypres, two great battles

HALF OF NATION IS SWELTERING IN THE UNABATED HOT WAVE

Hundreds of Dixon People Went to the Bathing Beaches Yesterday

ALL OF EAST SUFFERS

Many Deaths From Excessive Heat Wave—No Relief Yet

During yesterday afternoon and evening many hundreds of Dixon people took advantage of the cooling waters of Rock river and enjoyed the beaches at Assembly and Lowell parks.

This city, in common with the entire eastern half of the United States sweltered in the sun all day and the night brought little relief, while today's temperature, at present writing, seems to promise to be a mate to yesterday's.

All East Suffers.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Chicago and the entire section of the United States, from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard, sweltered yesterday in the hot wave, which established a new high record in many cities. Suffering was general and many deaths and prostrations were reported.

In Chicago the maximum temperature was 101 reached at 2:30 o'clock but other cities were not so fortunate. Baltimore reported 105, a new record; Detroit reported 104 and in central Illinois 104 was reached.

ALLIES TO START NEW DRIVE SOON

Bitter Fighting at Points Along the Soissons-Rheims-Front

NEXT GERMAN MOVES?

U. S. Gunners Wipe Out Hun Battalion Attacking Workers

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

On the French Front, Aug. 7, 2:30 P. M.—Franco-American forces were thrown across the Vesle river east of Braisne last evening and they forced the enemy back. The enemy counter attacked there, and the allied forces took 100 prisoners. Shortly afterwards the Germans counter attacked with a heavy barrage, but they could not dislodge the allied troops who stuck to their positions. The enemy appears to have strong forces in this neighborhood.

The remainder of the front is comparatively calm, except for artillery activity.

BRITISH IN SIBERIA

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Shanghai, Saturday (Delayed)—British troops landed in Vladivostok at dawn today. They received a friendly reception.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Artillery duels and patrol actions continue along the Vesle front while the allies and Germans are making ready for future operations. Indications point to the resumption of fighting on this line within a few hours.

Whether the Crown Prince will attempt to make a definite stand between the Vesle and the Aisne is not yet clear, but he is apparently making further effort to check the allied advance.

Rain was falling again on the battle front Tuesday.

New Phase In War.

When the infantry fighting reopens in force it will probably mark a new phase in the year's campaign. The Marne pocket has been cleared of the enemy and the Crown Prince has been defeated. Premier Clemenceau announces that the allies have taken 35,000 German prisoners and 700 guns in the recent fighting.

Next Hun Moves.

An interesting report has been received from Paris concerning the future plans of the German high command. Some observers think the Germans will strike on the British front simultaneously with an attack by the German fleet on the British fleet. Another report says that the Germans will soon shorten their lines for the purpose of increasing their available man power.

Intense bitterness marks what fighting is going on between Soissons and Rheims. American forces in Fismes and north of the river are being subjected to a heavy bombardment from cannon and machine guns.

West of Fismes Tuesday a German battalion prepared to attack an American bridge building force. The entire battalion was wiped out by American machine gunners.

On British Line.

South of Morlancourt the Germans attacked yesterday and took ground recently won from them by the Austrians astride the Bray-Courdes road. This morning the British counter attacked and won back the ground, taking some prisoners. London claims that all objectives fixed in counter attacks have been secured.

American troops in the Woivre repulsed two German raids.

France has honored allied commanders and victors in the present offensive, making General Foch a Marshal of France. Foch is the second to attain this honor in the war, the first being Marshal Joffre, the victor of the first battle of the Marne.

LOWDEN SAYS NOW OR NEVER IS THE WORD IN HARD ROADS FIGHT

$60,000,000 Bond Issue Will Not Mean Higher Taxes Says the Governor

After Riding Over the Bad Roads, Governor Lowden Speaks His Mind

Chicago, Aug. 7.—It is now or never for "hard roads" in Illinois, so far as the immediate future is concerned, Gov. Lowden told the automobile interests of Chicago yesterday.

The governor wound up a 125 mile motor trip over some of the worst roads in the state by appearing at the Lexington hotel in the afternoon and discussing the $60,000,000 highway bond issue at a meeting called by the Chicago Automobile Trade association.

"And when you know how I have spent the earlier part of the day," he told his hearers a bit wearily, "you may be sure that I am very much in earnest in urging the improvement of our roads."

Best Chance in Years
Gov. Lowden characterized the bond issue project, which is to be voted on at the November elections, as "the most favorable opportunity we may hope for in this generation."

"If we don't vote this bond issue this year," he said, "it will be at least fifteen or twenty years, as far as we can tell, before the people of the state will have another chance to authorize a systematic plan of improving our highways."

"Legislators are but human, like the rest of us. Most of you know that when a waterways measure or good roads measure goes through the hands of the general assembly, it usually comes out ill balanced and badly framed. Most of our good roads bills have been mutilated—so weighed down with roads which no one travels, but which goes by the doors of some legislator's constituents—that you wouldn't recognize them as the original bills."

Means No Added Taxes
"But in this case, fortunately, a comprehensive system worked out by highway engineers went through with hardly any change, so that now the people have submitted to them the best plan of highway improvement ever submitted in any state."

"People will tell you this is no time to burden ourselves with bond issues. You know that every cent of these bonds, with the interest, will be paid out of the automobile license fees, but the average man in the state doesn't. It is your business to tell him that not 1 cent will be added to his taxes."

And as for the motorist, even if the present automobile license fees were trebled, his saving in the upkeep of his car through having good roads to drive over would pay what the license cost him twice over every month.

Prepare for After War
"True, we are not undertaking much road building during the period of the war, and we are not going to undertake it under the bond issue. But now is the time to prepare for the period after the war. Our men will be returning, and public improvements must be provided against their return."

"When these men come back, with their vastly increased knowledge of construction work, they will put the vigor into the building of these roads that they put into this second battle of the Marne. They'll pull Illinois out of the mud, and our road building plan will not only be a boon to the state, but it will also mean much to the returning and victorious soldiers from the European battle fields."

CAMP GRANT SHINES TO MEET PERSHING

BLACKHAWK DIVISION PREPARED TO LAND OVERSEAS IN CRACK CONDITION

Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., Aug. 7.—Blackhawks began a house cleaning at Camp Grant today which promises to excel in intensity the hardest field training of the last month. The return of a staff officer from an American port of embarkation where he delivered a detail of negro troops recently has brought home a realization of the rigid efficiency Uncle Sam demands among organizations dispatched to Gen. Pershing, and the Eighty-sixth has settled into a grim determination to pass the final tests for overseas service.

No smallest detail of health, equipment or military records escape the inspection ordered by the war department before an organization is allowed to take to the sea. Some divisions are said to have lost as high as 5,000 men at a port of embarkation where port officers order men from their companies if the slightest error is found in their records or if a single button is loosened upon their uniforms.

Pershing Is Particular
Gen. Pershing has declared that men fit to give their lives on the battlefields of France are fit to come to him in perfect order. New uniforms, shoes and articles of equipment go with the men who pass the final tests.

Gen. Martin and his officers of the Blackhawk division intend to make the machine absolutely perfect and pass with flying colors, thus keeping up the clean record that has followed the unit since its organization.

Weeks will be spent if need be in bringing this perfection about, and when the call comes the Eighty-sixth will carry a spotless record to the front in addition to the best drilled unit the national army has produced.

If you HAVEN'T done this by now, it's OUR fault.

We haven't laid before you plainly enough—convincingly enough, in full justice—the GREAT, BIG, REAL truths about Chowchilla.

Of course you want to live in California some day. Any man would be foolish—if he had the opportunity—to refuse to enjoy this blessed climate and beautiful country where people live LONGER and HAPPIER.

You can start on convenient terms—and, until the farm has paid for itself, we will crop it out, work it for you—for a share of the profits.

You have heard and read of what Chowchilla offers. You have been interested in what we are doing at Chowchilla through your neighbors. We want you for one of our neighbors out at Chowchilla; many of us are going to have our own farms out Chowchilla way, you know.

LIVE NEWS CONCERNING ROCK RIVER ASSEMBLY

this program. The program will carry selections from such favorite light operas as "Robin Hood," "The Serenade," "The Pied Piper," "The Red Mill," "The Mikado" and "Madame Butterfly," all of which are in special costume.

Popular quartet selections are given and also solos, duets, trios, readings and character impersonations. These people carry one of the best mixed quartets on the platform. Altha Montague, contralto and reader, is a pleasing singer. Edna Reynolds, soprano, has appeared exclusively as soloist with large societies.

Haydn Thomas, bass and accompanist, has sung many leading roles with the Aborn Opera company.

John Eichenberger, manager and tenor, has had extended operatic and stage experience.

The company gave a splendid program of music this afternoon.

Fairchild's Pleasure.
The Fairchild Ladies' Quartet pleased two large audiences Tuesday afternoon and evening. These talented young women reside at Beloit, Wis., and have been on chautauqua platforms for some time, meeting with splendid success.

Blue Bird Tonight.
The moving picture, Blue Bird, will be thrown on the Assembly screen immediately after the concert.

This is a wonderful picture and carries with it a great lesson. The picture has six reels.

Thursday's Program.

Thursday forenoon Mrs. Hill and Dr. Coburn will hold the attention of the Assembly patrons, their meetings being held in Chautauqua hall. Mrs. Hun will discuss "Women Workers of the Orient" and Dr. Coburn will discuss at 11 o'clock "Papyrus Discoveries." Both lectures will be interesting and instructive.

At 2 o'clock the Redpath people again take charge, with a recital by the Christine Giles company. This company is of skilled artists, presenting high class selections, both instrumental and vocal; piano, violin and flute being instruments used. Christine Giles-Bingham is the talented wife of Ralph Bingham, who will be the principal factor Thursday evening, known as "Joy Night." Mr. Bingham is a wonder on the platform. He is a humorist of the highest order, because your soul laughs with his own. His evening on the platform is as clean as new leaves in the forest; and you come away as from Arden of rest, where brooks have sweetly sung.

Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock Harry J. Loose will lecture, "Crime, Its Cause and Prevention," being his subject. Loose is a member of the Chicago police department, and has been granted a furlough only long enough to cover the chautauqua circuit. His lecture is highly interesting and at its close he will answer for a limited time any questions his hearers care to ask. He also exhibits at this time a remarkable display of tools of crime and criminals, which he has captured during his work as a detective.

At 4:30 o'clock Mrs. Hill will discuss "The Wage Earners."

ASSEMBLY NOTES

Each night finds the attendance growing.

Many people are telephoning inquiries about next Sunday's program. Sir John Foster Fraser of England should be heard by thousands. He has a message, Lieut. Nichols says he is one of England's big men. People who have heard Fraser say he is a wonder.

Thirty-five members of the Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran church of Sterling attended the Assembly Tuesday and enjoyed a noonday lunch on the banks of the river.

The members of the Fairchild Quartet enjoyed a plunge in the river after the Tuesday afternoon program.

Manager Price of the Redpath Bureau is one of the busy men on the grounds.

Some of the young ladies of the Carthage College Glee club give a recital in Chicago this evening. Byron Brooks of this city will assist and will sing several solos.

Dr. Altman, program manager, is extremely happy today. The reason is he is celebrating his 63rd birthday. His friends on the grounds are congratulating him and wishing him well.

A suggestion from the Press Bureau to certain young ladies camping on the grounds: Don't hold your beefsteak fry too late. Better cease serving before 1 o'clock. Midnight is a little late for parties. A few of the old timers, who have had their fun in their younger days, desire to rest. A word to the wise is sufficient.

1200 New York Doctors Fighting Poison Gas.

Do you know that you folks at home as well as the brave boys "over there" are menaced by "poison gas"—the insidious kind that steals away health and the joy of living, in the perpetually recurring disturbances resulting from a gassy, sour stomach.

1200 New York physicians regularly prescribe JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS as the most perfect form of relief known for these stomach disorders. The TABLETS are highly beneficial for gastric and intestinal indigestion, heartburn, acid or sour stomach, flatulence and gastric catarrh. They sure do vanish that poison gas which is the basis of most stomach ailments, as well as banish bad breath which usually heralds that gas-filled stomach.

Get the TABLETS at your drug store. They insure quick, lasting relief by taking three to six dissolved in a glass of water or chewed before swallowing. Have JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS handy in the dining room for chronic cases of gastric or intestinal indigestion—as one or two TABLETS should be taken before each meal.

THE WIFE

By JANE PHELPS

RUTH FINDS AN APARTMENT. SHE PLANS TO DO IT OVER.

CHAPTER IX.

"Now dear I want to talk to you." It was the third day after they had arrived in New York, and also the third day of Ruth's fruitless search for a place to live. They had finished dinner, and Ruth, utterly worn out, had slipped into a comfortable kimono, and was lazily on the couch.

"Go ahead, Brian, dear. But don't expect me to answer, I am tired to death. The perfectly awful places I have seen, have given me a horrible headache."

"All right. I'll do the talking. Now Ruth darling, there isn't any use pretending. We are poor, poor as church mice, and we have got to find a place to live in and get out of here. Cheap as it is, it is far more than we can afford for a while. Tomorrow is Sunday. I will spend the day hunting a place. Then Monday we must get a few things and move in. You can buy the fold-de-rols gradually. We'll get the necessities, and start housekeeping. Of course, Ruth we won't be as poor as we are now, very long."

"Of course we won't! Why, you'll soon have a big law practice, then we can get into a nice place and have Rachel."

"Yes," rather impatiently. "But Ruth, I am afraid you will not be contented. You have seen many apartments just as good as any we can afford now, and you say they give you a headache. I should hate to come home and find you always with a headache."

Ruth laughed merrily. She was really tired, really disgusted with the places she had seen. But she was also in love, also young and enthusiastic.

"Oh, I'll be happy, Brian dear. We'll fix up the place so prettily, on almost nothing at all, that you won't recognize it. Only please don't take a place where there are cockroaches."

Ruth's idea of "nothing at all" was a little less than she had used to decorate her aunt's house.

"Of course I won't! Now we'll turn in early, get a good start in the morning, and by night we will have a home, little girl. It will be better than this old hole, anyway. And the way the bills mount up here is scandalous."

Ruth was about to tell him they weren't a tenth of what her's and Aunt Laura's were at the Ritz, when they stopped there. But she remembered that Brian was not rich like Mrs. Clayborne, and said nothing. But it seemed to her that Brian talked a good deal about money, and how careful they must be,—for a while. She had never heard money discussed. It was there; she had used it. That was all there was to it. That made her think. Her pocket book was nearly empty. Heiunt had not given her a very large amount—in line with her ideas of what Ruth would do when she found she had to economize—and it was nearly gone. Would she have to ask Brian for money? That would be unbearable. But how else was she to get it? She couldn't do much without money, especially in New York.

"Are you going to give me an allowance to run the house?" she asked. "I read a book, once, where a young couple like us got married and they divided the money the man earned. So much for the rent, so much for clothes, so much to run the house, etc. It was an awful nice story. I recall, I read it aloud to Aunt Laura. She said that was the only way for people of moderate means to do."

"Why, yes—if you would like to do that way, I have no objection," yet, as he said it, Brian flushed with embarrassment. He had not told Ruth the size of his income. He really had not been able to get courage to do so. Her absolute disregard of money at Atlantic City, had shown him more of the manner of her upbringing than he had before known.

It had frightened him, a little. He loved Ruth passionately. He hated to deny her things to which she had been accustomed. He wouldn't have to, very long—just until he got a few good, paying cases. But in the interim it would be hard to make her understand. He must be patient.

Sunday dawned bright and lovely. In high good spirits they set out to find a home. Someway, things looked different to Ruth with Brian along. The sordidness did not seem quite so sordid, the dinginess, the cheap flats quite so dingy. About three o'clock, after looking for hour they found a little five-room apartment that Brian said would have to do. The rent was thirty-five dollars a month. The entrance was neat, the apartment was up one flight of stairs. The janitor—rather, the janitress—seemed a good soul, and promised to do all she could to help Ruth.

The rooms had been lately "done" and were clean. But Ruth's spirit sank as she heard the woman tell Brian that the owner would not be paper for anybody. He had papers to suit the last tenant's and the they had remained only three months.

"But he won't mind if we paper ourselves?" Ruth asked. "No, I don't guess he would mind if you done it yourself, but he won't do nothing for nobody, so it ain't no use askin'."

"We'll do them over in soft pretty colors, Brian. It won't be so bad then." Ruth shivered as she looked at the glaring colors that no amount of furnishing could tone down.

Brian made no answer. But Ruth never noticed.

GERMAN SUBMARINE CREWS IN REVOLT?

Amsterdam Story Says 50 Submarines Have Disappeared—Sailors Shot

KAISER IS NOT COMING

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Aug. 7.—Rumors of a revolt of German sailors at Wilhelmshaven in protest against the continuation of the submarine warfare, are in circulation according to a dispatch to the Express from Amsterdam.

It is reported that propaganda circulated among the men incited the sailors about to leave on submarine voyages to attack their officers and surrender their ships or seek an opportunity to sink them and get interned in a neutral harbor. More than 50 submarines are said to have disappeared.

Twenty-three ringleaders are said to have been arrested and sentenced to death. There also have been many arrests at Kiel and elsewhere. The correspondent admits the stories are conflicting and that facts are difficult to obtain.

The men behind the movement of the revolution are sailors who for some time have been conducting propaganda with the object of stopping the submarine warfare because of greatly increased danger.

Emperor William has abandoned his intended visit to the fleet at Wilhelmshaven because of the trouble there.

Why We Recommend the Automatic--

The system of cold, dry air circulation is such that your food will not spoil. There is no moisture in an Automatic. It saves food bills, and as you will have no tainted foods it saves doctors' bills.

By reason of the manner in which this cold, dry air constantly circulates—being purified as it passes over the ice—food odors will not mix. Your milk will not taste of onions; your butter will not taste of fish; odors will not mix!

There are eight heat-resisting, cold-retaining walls. (We will show this to you.) So, you get more refrigeration for less ice. If ever a refrigerator was built that will save its cost because of ice economy it is the Automatic. It certainly saves ice bills.

The water cooler, which takes up no food space and no ice space—requires no ice in the water; the removable and easily cleaned shelves; the wonderfully simple and sanitary trap; a dozen reasons why we should and do recommend the Automatic.

Best drop in and see the demonstration. You're as welcome as the flowers in May.

A SCENE FOR THE MOVIES.

One of the hardest things for the people at home, as they read the war news and the letters from the front, is to visualize the actual fighting—to see their Yankee lads exactly as they look in the big battles on which hangs the world's fate. Here, from the pen of a French correspondent, is a description that helps immensely:

"The finest thing of the combat was the dash of the Americans. It was a fine thing to see those grand fellows, with their tunics thrown off and their shirt sleeves rolled up above their elbows, wading the rivers with water to their shoulders and throwing themselves on the boche like bulldogs.

"Any one who has seen such a sight knows what the American army is good for henceforth and to the end of the war. At sight of these men, magnificent in their youth, physical force, good temper, and dash, the German fled with every leg or surrendered without awaiting the order to throw away their arms and take off their suspenders, which is the first thing a prisoner is told to do, in order that he may be compelled to keep his hands employed and out of mischief.

"The Germans hurried toward our lines, gripping their trousers, haggard, and mad with terror.

"Would that every mother in France who has lost a son in the war could have seen that epic sight. They would have seen themselves revenged, and it would have been some consolation to them in their sorrow."

Would that every mother in America who has a son in the war—and every father and brother and sister and uncle and aunt—could likewise see that epic sight.

We may see it, too. Was there ever more glorious matter and inspiration for the movies? They will be giving us that scene, or a duplicate of it, taken from real life, one of these days.

We are about to experience some financial difficulties. We must hew closer to the line, and the program of self-denial, which has scarcely touched America to date, must be generally adopted. The fact that we are at war is to be brought more closely home to all of us. This is the conclusion of the Saturday Evening Post, which has been scanning the future with a critical eye, and which has come to the conclusions set forth in the above caption. It says:

"In the fiscal year that ends this month the government will have spent about $12,000,000,000. In the coming year it will undertake to spend at least twenty.

"These are no mere figures on a printed page. They are no mere problems in bankers' finance, to be disposed of by clever bookkeeping entries. They are exigent and intimate personal notice that a hundred million people must do at least one-half better in the opening year than they did in the closing one.

"We got through the closing year very easily. We practiced, more or less, the most obvious and convenient economy—those that involved only some little bother in changing our habits, like eating corn and rye bread instead of wheat, but left us, on the whole, living quite as agreeably as before.

"Our rich folk cheerfully adopted the new fashion of giving fewer parties, as they would have adopted any other fashion not disagreeable in itself. But we have not noticed anybody who go so close to a war regime that he barked his shin against it. And that was not actually needed. With such easy sacrifices as we made the country got through the year adequately and creditably. Probably there is no point in barking your shin until the actual need is at hand.

"These treasury figures certify the need. They are notice that we are now coming under a more rigorous war regime, comparable to that of Europe. We must produce and save one-half more. It means you. It means every person capable of directing his production and consumption. It is an exigent personal message. Overhaul your budget now."

President Wilson asks the public to avoid any manifestations of "the mob spirit" against German residents. The request will be easily complied with, if the Germans will go half way and avoid any manifestations of the Hun spirit.

GERMANS SHELL AND SINK LIGHTSHIP OFF NO. CAROLINA COAST

Guard To the Treacherous Reefs of Cape Hatteras, Sunk By Submarine

LIGHTSHIP HELPLESS

Manned By Graybeards, Anchored Boat Could Not Defend Herself

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 7.—The Diamond Shoals lightship, off Cape Hatteras, N. C., was shelled and sunk by an enemy submarine late yesterday, the navy department was informed today. The crew, who took to the boats, reached the shore in safety. The submarine appeared within a half a mile of shore.

The navy department has received only meager information when the statement was issued. The Diamond Shoal lightship guards the outthrust reefs of storm swept Cape Hatteras, the graveyard of the Atlantic coast. It is imperative that the lightship be restored at once, and steps have already been taken in this direction.

The attack on the lightship represents a new phase of submarine activity. It may be a plan to hamper and destroy shipping, or on the other hand may be only an isolated case of frightfulness. If the raider has definitely set out to destroy lightships and exposed light houses, it is believed he can do extensive harm before his ammunition is exhausted. Some officials doubt whether any extensive campaign is planned. To do so would be perilous to the submarine, which is wholly dependent upon such aid to determine its own position. Although the submarine was reported to be within a half mile of shore, navy officials doubt the report. The lightship was anchored 12 miles off shore, in shallow water.

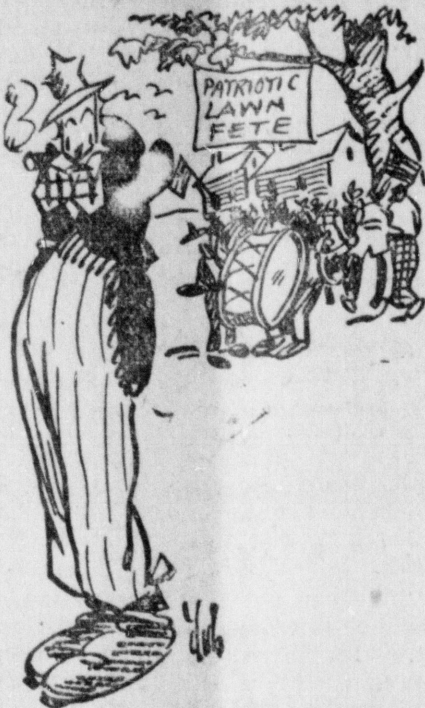

This lightship is famous among guides to the navigating world and has been told of in story, verse and prose. Such vessels are manned by graybeards, and are of such type as to be utterly helpless in the face of an attack.

The attacking submarine is believed to have been the same that sunk the O. P. Jennings, 100 miles off the Virginian coast recently.

The submarine's exploit of appearing within a half mile of the coast, if true, is one of the most daring since the appearance of the undersea craft on this side. They were in an important shipping lane, covered with innumerable patrol boats.

—An American schooner arrived here today with 85 members of the Japanese freighter Tokuyama Maru, 7,000 tons, which was en route from England to an American port. The vessel was torpedoed 200 miles off Nova Scotia on August 1, without warning. The submarine fired 5 torpedoes before the ship went down. Several hours later the submarine commander came alongside the small boats in which the crew had taken refuge and questioned the Japanese regarding the vessel.

ARTERY CUT WHILE AT WORK

Ted Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Haley, 1005 Third street, suffered painful injury to his left arm while at work at the Northwestern station yesterday when a heavy piece of freight which he was helping move fell on the arm, inflicting a severe gash near the wrist. The artery was severed and it was necessary to take the young man to the hospital for treatment.

Easy, if You Know How.
A local preacher tells an interesting story of an incident in which he took part while in another city. It seems that while in his study two middle-aged people called with a marriage license and a request that he tie the knot. The woman was a widow of Swedish birth and did not understand English, and the man, who was a Scotchman, did not understand her tongue. This gave the pastor a puzzle to solve, but he decided to ask the usual questions in their respective languages. After the ceremony had been performed the pastor's curiosity led him to ask the question, "You do not understand each other; how did you manage to propose to the woman?" After fidgeting about a bit and hitching up his belt, the happy groom smiled and said, "To tell the truth, pastor, I didn't have to say much."—Worcester Post.

CRIME ON INCREASE IN GERMAN EMPIRE SAYS BERLIN PAPER

Vorwaerts s Authority For Statement That Depravity
Is Growing
THROUGH ALL CLASSES

By Associated Press
New York, Aug. 7.—War has caused an increase of crime and depravity among the German people, according to an analysis published by the Berlin Vorwaerts. The paper recalls that at the beginning of the war, prophets spoke of a "steel bath" in the waters of which the morals of the German people would recuperate.

"Since August 4, 1914," says the Vorwaerts, "we have allowed the blessings of this bath to act on us with steadily increasing vigor and the result is a moral condition of health of the German people of which the compilations of criminal statistics give convincing reports. These tell us of the steadily increasing number of crimes of brutality, and serious crimes against property and a glance at any newspaper confirms the horribly increasing number of robberies and burglaries in the cities and as well as in rural districts. Systematically organized and methodically operating bands of robbers menace continually life and property of respectable citizens."

"Also honesty of the latter has suffered a perceptible 'crack' and here the influence of the steel bath is directly proved. We do not fear that we are disclosing any state-endangering secret when we announce the fact that at present there probably are few German subjects left who have not in some more or less serious manner violated the existing government decrees and laws and made themselves liable to punishment."

The Vorwaerts, then, cites the instances of the citizen, who on Sunday goes to the country to buy food for hoarding purposes, or the proud wife of the owner of a large estate, whose chickens "lay" eggs only for a mark apiece, of the wife of the First Lieutenant who sells the food articles received from her husband at the front at fancy prices and the army of usurers, secret traders and forgers.

The Vorwaerts then dwells on the effect of the steel bath on the growing generation and cites complaints by the clergy and teachers to show that depravity is one of its results.

The paper calls attention to what it describes as the "fruits of the best education as shown during the Radeck-Bernstorff libel case." It adds: "When refined cavaliers of the most prominent society apply the most common names to each other and box each other's ears, then no one has the right to claim for one certain class, decency and well-behavior."

"The steel bath exerts its effects on everyone and splashes over the home of the proletariat as well as over the play room in the family of the count," concludes the Berlin publication.

LENINE, BOLSHEVIK, PLANS WAR ON JAPAN SAYS BERLIN REPORT

FRANCIS FORCED OUT
Bolsheviks Cut Off Communication Between Diplomats and the Entente

London, Aug. 6.—It is reported from Moscow by way of Berlin that the Bolshevik government in Russia is considering a declaration of war against Japan, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today.

Premier Lenine, the message adds has up to now been opposed to such action, but it is believed Russia "will be compelled to declare war notwithstanding the fact that the people are opposed to any new war."

Forced Francis to Leave
Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Official advice to the state department today disclosed that Ambassador Francis and allied diplomatic corps were forced to leave Russia for the Murman coast by the aggressive action of the Bolshevik government.

The department was informed that six weeks ago Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik minister of war, ordered the officials in charge of the cables to stop all telegrams addressed to allied ministers, thus cutting them off from communication with their governments.

If further evidence were needed that Lenine and Trotsky and their Bolshevik followers are using their temporary power in the interests of Germany and against the entente, this affront would be sufficient to show their hands. It would cause no surprise here if Bolshevik leaders attempted to marshal their forces against the American, Japanese and allied expeditionary forces at Vladivostok and Archangel but confidence is felt that the Bolsheviks will not be able to swing enough support to defeat the allied plans.

Japanese Troops Landing
Intimations were given in official quarters today that Japanese troops might now be landing at Vladivostok, preceding the arrival of American contingents. It is known that French troops are on their way to Siberia from Cochin China and British troops have arrived from Hong Kong. A Chinese cruiser also has arrived at Vladivostok.

The success of Czech-Slovaks who promise, with allied support, to become a real factor in bringing Russia back into the war, is causing anxiety in Germany and army disruption in Austria.

1,000,000 Desert in Austria
Information has been received by the Czech-Slovak national council here of wholesale desertions in Austria-Hungary. It was declared at the council's headquarters that the Austrian army is today in the same state of disorganization as was the Russian army in 1916.

Reports received by this organization from Czech sources in Austria-Hungary state that there have been more than a million deserters from the Austrian army and that 80,000 of these are living in Vienna, where the government is powerless to deal with them.

CHILI PAPER IS BEING CONSIDERED

By Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 7.—The shortage of paper has led to a government investigation of the paper manufacturing possibilities in Chile. Paper manufacturers of the republic have held several conventions to ascertain the capacity of their factories and grades of paper that can be manufactured in the country.

There are now in Chile nine paper factories with a total production of 7,500,000 kilos (of 2.20 pounds) annually. They are capitalized at 3,500,000 pesos and employ 400 men.

The newspapers of Chile have been alarmed at the scarcity of print paper due to the shortage in the United States and the lack of vessels to transport what paper could be obtained in this country and elsewhere in the world. It has been developed that the big factories in Chile can make print paper out of the raw material obtainable in Chile and they have already begun the output. This will be increased as rapidly as possible. In the southern part of the republic vast acreage of timberland produces sufficient pulp wood to supply the needs of the manufacturers for many years.

DANES SHORT OF BUILDING STUFF

By Associated Press
London, Aug. 7.—A shortage of homes is adding to the woes of residents of Danish cities. Many brick-yards, according to a Dane who has just returned here from Copenhagen, have had to close, with the result that building virtually has ceased and flat hunting had developed into what might be called flat auctions.

If a flat was advertised for rent in the papers, probably a hundred persons would assemble that day outside the building. No one was admitted to the flat, but the caretaker, who when he thought a large enough crowd had collected, would throw open his window and say something like this:

"The rent of this flat, ladies and gentlemen, is so much a year. Which of you will pay me most for arranging matters?"

Then a kind of auction would be held, and whoever made the largest bid for the services of the caretaker would secure the flat.

Now the flat famine has developed to such an extent that the diligent flat seeker studies the death announcements, proceeds immediately to the residence and assails the mourners with questions about their plans with regard to the flat.

C. P. McPHERSON RECEIVES ANOTHER PROMOTION

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McPherson have just received a letter from their son Clarence, who is in France, stating that he has been promoted from Company Clerk to Regimental Supply Co., 58th Infantry. His many friends here will be pleased to learn of his advancement.

July 4, 1918.

Dear Mother—
I am well and feeling fine and hope you are the same. This is the Fourth of July and I hope you are having as good a time as we had down to the Rocks last Fourth. I suppose all the folks are home to celebrate as they always did. The place where I am now don't have celebrations like we have back home. We are close to town. I go down almost every night. The division has a band and they play about two hours every night. That is the way I spend my evenings, and they can play well.

Write and tell all the folks I am well and hope they are the same.

The country where I am now looks different from the country back home. All the people talk French. I can not understand a word. I have surely seen sights since I left home.

From your son,
HAROLD S. BOSLEY,
Private Co. B, 353 Infantry, 89th Division.

Dickens' Forensic Masterpiece.

Dickens' lawyers are legion, but none of them has a stronger hold on the memory of his readers than Sergeant Buzfuz, whose peroration in Bardell vs. Pickwick ranks as a forensic masterpiece: "But Pickwick, gentlemen, Pickwick, the ruthless destroyer of this domestic oasis in the desert of Gossell street—Pickwick, who has choked up the well and thrown ashes on the sward—Pickwick who comes before you today with his heartless tomato sauce and warming pans—Pickwick still rears his head with unblushing effrontery and gazes without a sigh on the ruin he has made. Damages, gentlemen, heavy damages, is the only punishment with which you can visit him—the only recompense you can award to my client. And for those damages she now appeals to an enlightened, a high-minded, a right-feeling, a conscientious, a dispassionate, a sympathizing, a contemplative jury of her civilized countrymen."

He Did His Best.

Great amusement was caused by the action of a yellow hammer which tried to peck a hole through a castiron United States mail box on a post in front of a hotel in Albany, N. Y. The bird persistently operated his beak on the top of the box for several intervals of five to fifteen minutes with the result that the paint was slightly scarred in several places, but so far as could be ascertained, with no damaging effect to the beak. Early in the forenoon the proprietor of the hotel, was disturbed while reading the paper, by the sound. He watched the performance with amusement until some passer-by caused the bird to fly away. The bird returned several times during the forenoon and pounded away on the top of the box, at times a number of people acting as spectators.

Not Much Required.

The newspaper which succeeded in getting the following paragon would be lucky. Yet it is probable there were applicants who believed they could come up to sample: "Subeditor—Smart, up-to-date man wanted for a leading weekly journal. Must be a man of initiative with a nose for good 'copy,' with practical knowledge of printing and publishing routine and capable of making up, passing for and seeing through the press. Office hours—daybreak till midnight. Salary—whatever he is worth. No conventional 'Fleet streeters' or any unappreciated journalistic geniuses need apply. Must be a man of the world, with a wide human sympathy, with no 'kinks'—either moral, political or artistic—with a firm faith in the inherent goodness of mankind and the policy of making the best possible use of this life as a sound preparation for the next. Must always wear a smile—but never a snigger. Dress optional. Must treat his work as one continuous holiday. It will pay any man, answering to these conditions, to relinquish any other interest and secure the post."—London Tit-Bits.

SUFFRAGE MEETING IS BROKEN UP BY POLICE

PROTEST MEETING OPPOSITE WHITE HOUSE ENDS IN ARREST OF LEADERS

Washington, Aug. 6.—Police this afternoon prevented a protest meeting of suffragists in Lafayette park, opposite the White House.

As the chairman began to speak a squad of more than a dozen policemen rushed to the base of the monument to Marquis Lafayette where the speakers were standing, and informed the women that they were under arrest.

More than 50 arrests were made, among them Miss Alice Paul, president of the National Woman's party. The women, banners and regalia all were hustled into patrol wagons and hurried to police headquarters.

Warned of Arrest.

The arrests were made on complaint of Col. C. N. Ridley, superintendent of public grounds and buildings, who earlier in the day hinted that the meeting would be broken up by the police if the women did not secure a permit.

The demonstration was styled "a demonstration against the administration for delay in passing the Susan B. Anthony amendment."

Flag No Protection

The meeting did not have a chance to get under way. Just as Miss Blanche McPherson started to speak a policeman placed her under arrest. Miss Hazel Hunkins of Billings, Mont., was next to be taken into custody. She was carrying a large American flag which she insisted upon carrying to police headquarters, but it was taken from her.

Later the police released all except those who had congregated at the place of meeting, only about 40 being finally detained.

Marchers Unmolested

Those marching were not violating any rules, it was held. This also applied to two banner bearers on the White House side of the street. They paced back and forth, and as long as they did not stop, they were immune from arrest.

All the women were released as soon as their names could be taken and bail arranged.

GERMANS NOW ACCUSING PRESS

New York, Aug. 7.—The press in Germany was accused during a debate in the Reichstag of spreading false reports regarding allied air raids on German cities according to German newspapers received here.

The case in question was the air raid on Cologne on May 18.

Deputy Kuckoff of the Centre Party said there had been no timely warning of the population by the military authorities.

Deputy Meerfeld, Socialist, said that, although every child in Cologne knew that 25 persons had been killed, the newspapers on that day were forced to say "that unfortunately there have been some casualties."

"What will be the reputation of the press if they are forced to spread such false reports," he asked. Meerfeld said that the methods of the general command reminded him of the saying that "under martial law every jackass can rule."

NELSON TOWNSHIP LAD WRITES FINE LETTER TELLING OF WORK AT U. S. RADIO STATION

Ward Hartshorn in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hartshorn, of Nelson:

U. S. Naval Radio School July 28, 1918.

Dear Mother and Father:

This has been a very hot day. Yesterday was a corker. We had inspection and review down at the stadium. We had to stand out in the hot sun about an hour and a half waiting for the inspection to be finished. The Red Cross wagon was busy. I saw five sailors being carried off the field. The review was fine.

The school is lots larger now than when I came here. I guess there must be about 5,500 men here at the school now and a big lot coming in every week. The men surely looked fine Saturday. The lunch stretch from the school clear to the stadium. When we got on the Charles River bridge I looked back and the street clear back to the square, which is about half a mile, was a moving mass of white and this was just about half of us.

In the afternoon I went through the Harvard Museum. It is a wonderful place; a person could spend several days in that one building alone. I went through the mineral, animal, and Indian sections, also the exhibit of glass. The lunch stretch from the school clear to the stadium. When we got on the Charles River bridge I looked back and the street clear back to the square, which is about half a mile, was a moving mass of white and this was just about half of us.

The ministers also have conferred the military medal on Gen. Pershing, commander in chief of the French armies on the western front.

In presenting the name of Gen. Foch, Premier Clemenceau said:

"At the hour when the enemy, by a formidable offensive, counted on snatching the decision and imposing a German peace upon us, Gen. Foch and his admirable troops vanquished him."

"Paris is not in danger, Soissons and Chateau Thierry have been reconquered and more than 200 villages have been delivered."

"Thirty-five thousand prisoners and 700 cannon have been captured and the enemy's high hopes of the week before have been crushed. The glorious allied armies have thrown him from the banks of the Marne to the Aisne. Such are the results of the high command's strategy, superbly executed by incomparable commanders. The confidence placed by the republic and by all the allies in the conqueror of St. Gond, the Yser and the Somme has been fully justified."

The awarding of the "Medaille Militaire" to Gen. Petain is a distinction rarely given to officers, the decoration generally being reserved for enlisted men. Marshal Joffre is one of the few officers who have received this honor.

I surely had a time today. Every Sunday I seem to have a better time than I did the Sunday before. An invitation was given at the Divinity Library for thirty sailors for a picnic at Levine's summer home between Rendall, Green and Weston, which is about 10 miles west of here. We were told that there would not be many girls there but the eats would be great, so we signed up. We went out on the train and got there at about 10 a. m. They have the largest department store in Boston and their summer home is in keeping with their large store. They are Jewish. The house covers about an acre of ground with a big screened porch all around. I never dreamed of such a place. Everything was thrown open to us. We could sit in the big chairs and read or ramble around the place, which is all very heavily wooded. Piehn and I took a walk down through the woods. You should see me dive into the blueberries. They grow on a little bush about 12 inches high. I soon got tired of them and I also wished to save a little room for dinner so we went back to the house and did a "parade rest" on the porch. Then came dinner which was served picnic style on the lawn with a Jap butler in attendance. Everything was put on a large table and we were told to help ourselves. The more we ate the better they were pleased. I will try to describe what we had: A salad with everything imaginable in it, peas, beans, potatoes, lettuce, etc., baked macaroni with cheese and tomato sauce, cold sliced tongue, cold boiled ham with boiled eggs and sandwiches, a mixture of iced tea, grape juice, lemonade, orangeade, and then the best coffee, with honest-to-gosh cream in it and sugar too. I lined up with the rest of the sailors for "seconds" and then peach short-cake and ice cream, for dessert. Peach short cake made like you used to, lots of peaches and baking powder biscuits. It was a dinner I will long remember.

After dinner Mr. Levine told some of us if we wished we might go up to the cabin to rest or to do anything we wished as the cabin was open to us and to make ourselves at home. We expected to find a rough shack. He had told us his den was down stairs and to help ourselves to anything we found. The cabin turned out to be the grandest cabin I ever saw. It was made out of rough boards and was built on the side of the rock. There were about 12 rooms in it furnished in the grandest style. So here was where some of us spent the afternoon. His den turned out to be a huge room with a large fireplace built out of boulders with big davenport and chairs. There were five boxes of cigars and a carton of cigarettes, but the wine chest was empty. I did not take my kodak but I kicked myself a hundred times for not taking it. We stayed until about five and then several of us were taken in an automobile to Newton where we were to get a street car to Cambridge. The rest of the fellows were to come back on the train at 5 o'clock. While we were waiting for a car at Weston a man came along with an auto. He was only going half-way to Cambridge. He stopped and asked us if we did not want a ride. When he found out we were from the radio school he insisted on bringing us clear to Harvard square. He had been through Harvard in the old days before the war. Being treated so nicely makes a fellow feel like some people really appreciated what we have given up. One of the boys told Mrs. Levine the entertainment they gave us was lots better than if they bought government bonds or gave to some welfare league, because we got the benefit direct, and I think he hit the nail on the head.

I received a letter from my war brother. He is Mr. Frank Roe, electrical and mechanical engineer, of Cleveland, Ohio. He is 64 years old and has a son in the Y. M. C. A. work in France. He started to work for the W. U. as messenger boy and ended up as electrician for them on the Pacific coast. Like yourself, dad, he spent several years pounding brass. He told me he was sending the Saturday Evening Post to me by the year and any books on electricity or radio I wanted. He would be very glad to see that I got them. As soon as I answer his letter I will send it to you.

I am so glad that you are proud of my grade at school. I am staying home tonight so that I might write to you, also study. I am starting on my review for my examinations the middle of the 12th week. I hope when the new day school routine goes into effect I will have more time for study.

I was over in Boston soon after supper. Frank wanted to take some pictures of the Public Gardens. I saw the foundations where the anti-aircraft guns are to be mounted. There are to be two of them. Ever since the war started, naval officers have feared that a large sub would sneak along the coast some night and have a hydroplane with them knocked down. Then they would put it together and bomb the naval yards. Of course they would lose the plane and flyer but that would be nothing compared with a crack at the Charlestown navy yards, so two guns are to be mounted on the commons and will be kept manned at all times.

Well, I guess I will chase myself to bed. I don't know how I am going to go back to prunes tomorrow and eat navy "chow" after the feed today. I guess you will have to make this letter do for several days because I will be busy this coming week.

With lots of love, WARD.

the Hog Island shipyard and the cessation of building at another yard. Corn in Illinois will suffer heavy damage if the heat does not abate, according to dispatches from Decatur and other points.

No immediate relief is in sight according to information from the weather bureau headquarters at Washington.

Several Die In New York

New York, Aug. 6.—The second day of intense heat which raised the mercury to a maximum of 93 at 2 and 4 p. m., caused the death of several persons here today and prostrated more than a score of others.

There was a general exodus to the bathing beaches and so dense was the throng which made its way to Coney Island that many women fainted while waiting for cars and numerous children became separated from their parents.

Many persons who found a vacant spot on the torrid sands prepared to spend the night there, hoping for a sea breeze. Others, unable to escape from the city, took pillows to park lawns.

100 Prostrated at Hog Island

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Intense heat coupled with high percentage of humidity caused more than 100 prostrations among the Hog Island shipyard workers, who were compelled to work in a broiling sun. About one-fourth of the cases were chased as serious.

Corn is Damaged.

Detroit, Aug. 6.—All high temperatures of 104 today, all records for high temperatures in August were broken. The highest yesterday was 105 and on Sunday 104. Corn is beginning to fire and farmers declare that immense damage to the crop will result unless the heat wave is soon ended.

6 Die in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.—Six deaths, 4 adults and 2 infants, yesterday were attributed officially today to the heat and a number of prostrations were also reported.

113 on Detroit Streets.

Detroit, Aug. 6.—All high temperatures records of the local weather bureau were broken this afternoon, when an official reading atop a high office building showed 103 degrees at 2 o'clock. On the street the government clock registered 125.

Expands Big Steel Bridge

Racine, Wis., Aug. 6.—As a result of the intense heat at noon today the steel beams in the Main street bridge expanded to such a degree that the bridge could not be closed after it had been swung open to allow passage of an outgoing steamer. The bridge, a 200 foot structure, remained open for three hours, while the fire department played streams of cold water upon the metal in order to cause a contraction sufficient to allow its closing.

Proof That Custom Dies Hard.

It is on record that in a certain church in Germany the peasants were in the habit of bowing or genuflecting when they passed a certain part of the wall. None of them could give any reason, except that they had been taught to do it. Even the oldest inhabitant had never heard of any reason, and did not think that any was known to the previous generation. It was just a custom that had been handed down. But when some repairs came to be made and the wall was stripped of lime it was found that a painting of the Virgin Mary had existed, and still fragmentarily existed, at that place. It had evidently been covered up at the Reformation; but the customary obeisance had been kept up even after everyone had forgotten the reason for it.

Really Made Little Difference.

The man knew that he was incompetent, but he needed the job very badly indeed. The farmer saw at a glance that he was a green hand, but he was urgently in need of help. So an arrangement was made. After dinner the farmer sent his new hand down to plow a field, and a few moments later followed him. Peering from the concealment of a clump of bushes, he observed for some time the frantic but futile efforts of his hand to run a straight furrow. Finally the poor fellow came to a discouraged halt, mopped his brow, and addressed the horses wearily: "Oh, well, then, go wherever you please," he said, "it all ban got to be plowed anyway."

Origin of Dollar Sign.

Although suggestions have been made that the symbol of the dollar sign represents the Pillars of Hercules or the caduceus of Mercury, it seems less far fetched to regard it as a pictograph of the Spanish arms to be found on all pieces of eight. The list of such money symbols is remarkably small as compared with those for weights and measures. Some years ago the United States made the first modern addition to money symbols, a distinguishing mark for its Philippine dollar. This may be described as a black letter minuscule p (for peso) with two bars scored across its stem.

Lava Little Affected by Water.

The rare observation of the behavior of liquid lava is recorded by Dr. A. L. Day of the geophysical laboratory in Washington. On passing into the sea the lava, in the eruption of Stromboli in 1915, as well as at Sakurajima in 1914, was seen to flow under water without explosive violence, and with no sign of disturbance at the water's surface. The lava became enclosed in a quickly-cooled porous sheath. This outer coating of vitreous and seemingly flexible lava was sufficiently non-conducting to release the great body of internal heat very slowly, the water near being warmed only a few degrees.

Making Home Real.

They built a stately house and dwelt therein and men said: "All their tastes are gratified, how happy they must be." And they came and went and were not satisfied, for they felt that they had no abiding place. And they bought more things for the house. Not until there came a birth did they begin to feel the sheltering walls. But once came Death who took the best beloved, and as he went he set the great seal upon the house where they had lived and made it Home.—The Stately House, by Gertrude Russell Lewis.

Grotesque Sea Creature.

The walrus or "sea horses" of the old navigators are the strangest and most grotesque of all sea mammals. Their large, rugged heads, armed with two long ivory tusks, and their huge swollen bodies, covered with hairless, wrinkled and warty skin, give them a formidable appearance unlike that of any other mammal. They are much larger than most seals, the old males weighing from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds and the females about two-thirds as much. Walrus show great devotion and disregard of their own safety in defending their young.

WAR'S END IS LONG WAYS OFF VETERAN ENGLISH ARMY SAYS

of the present war. He is well qualified to give the message from England to America.

Lost Arm in Battle. He did not appear in uniform. He is opposed to exploiting the uniform, when not in actual service. He referred to uniform lecturers as "professional heroes." The speaker lost an arm in battle. He has been in the English hospitals for months.

The principle theme in his lecture was that the English people and the American people must get together. When these two countries get together and know each other better then there will be no further aristocratic nonsense in Germany.

Knew War Was Coming. "English people, at least some of them, knew years ago that there would be a great war with Germany. But our pacifists did not so believe, and we have some of them in England as you have in America," declared the speaker.

He said that the red-blooded men of England could not be kept out of the war, 5,000,000 of them were ready anytime, and that many are in the struggle.

"We knew that America would be with us in this war. We thought at first that America stood for dollars, but now we know that America stands for humanity," said the lieutenant.

Thirty-seven Fronts. The speaker declared that today England has 7,500,000 men on 37 different fronts, and these men from England want the aid of the American soldiers. They want all the help that America can give them.

In speaking of the spirits of the boys in the trenches the speaker declared that 99 per cent of the men in the trenches will not show the white feather.

"We must convince ourselves that we can win; that the Germans are not invincible," declared the speaker. "Germany gives lives for land, but the Allies think of saving lives first and not of land," said Lieut. Nichols.

End Far Distant. He predicted that the end of the war was a long way off, and one of the reasons why the war was to be long drawn out, was for the reason that the Allies desired to save the lives of men. "Don't ask me when the war will end, that is the question of the slacker. Ask yourselves what have you done for the war, ask yourselves when the war will end," declared the Englishman.

He praised the Y. M. C. A. Knights of Columbus, and Salvation Army for the splendid work these organizations are doing for the boys over there. They see that the boys have every comfort possible and that they are being well fed and cared for.

He said that there were many widows in England and France. Many families have lost sons in the war, but the spirit still is high. The people of England and France are sick of war, but they do not ask for peace or terms of peace until the German people are sent back to their own country and whipped well.

"Americans, your responsibility in this war begins as soon as your boys leave for France. Today it is a question of humanity, and nothing else. Let there be no hand-uppers, cowards, slackers, there must be no surrender, we must win, we must beat them at their own game," declared the speaker in concluding his masterful address.

After the lecture Lieut. Nichols was taken in hand by Col. Nobel and family, taken to Lowell Park, the Country club and Grand Detour. The lieutenant spent Tuesday afternoon at Grand Detour, having spent several days there on a former trip to Dixon.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Now for the first time this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Interesting Diaries. The literary critic of the New York Evening Post is moved to moralize upon the importance of writing down the record of one's experiences while they are yet vivid in the memory. He says: "It is astonishing how much interest an average, everyday life can hold if the diarist only preserves the original gusto of his experiences. Some people need to have the good luck of happening in at fires and catastrophes, wars and alarms, in order to add flavor to their lives. Others find their excitement in trolley cars, street scenes, and the not extraordinary routine of business and domestic life. But the fewest of us combine with the virtue of enjoying contemporary commonplace the added grace of remembering with an equal vividness and interest. Time holds a sponge with which he wipes away the keenest outlines of experience for the better part of humanity. Could Peypys have compiled his diary, at the end of his life, from notes and memories as brilliantly for posterity?"

Sincerity.

Sincerity is a powerful factor in handling men. Sincerity in this life is one of the most ennobling traits of the human race. But sincerity in the shop as well as in private life is a quality every one of us should develop. As applied to handling men, if you promise, a man anything else that he gets it. Do not promise something you cannot give or have no right to promise. Treat all men alike and base all promises on that fact. Sincerity, I believe, can gain a foreman more respect than any other quality he may possess; more respect than the fact that he is the finest workman in the shop, or a good manager, or anything in which he may be superior to the general run of men. His recognized sincerity will crown him king of his department.—Industrial Management.

Fortunate Babies.

There is one instance, at least, where a baby received a substantial bonus as a result of subscriptions raised by the inhabitants of the town where it was born. This was at Schoneberg, near Berlin. With the arrival of the baby the population of the town reached the 100,000 mark, and according to rule, it attained the dignities and privileges of a "grossstadt," or large town. The inhabitants marked the occasion by raising a considerable sum of money for the baby. At Temesvar, in Hungary, £20,000 was once settled on a baby. The baby had been left at an orphanage and a visitor agreed to settle that sum of money on it if allowed to take it away and adopt it.

Buzzard's Wonderful Sight.

Many persons have thought that buzzards have an unusual sense of smell that guides them over miles of territory in search of food, but many years ago it was proved that sight is the principal factor in guiding the bird of prey. Audubon made careful experiments with a black vulture. The dry, stuffed skin of a deer which he placed out in the field soon attracted a vulture. Although there was no smell of flesh and nothing eatable about it, the bird lit and began tugging at the dry skin. Later, when the same bird circled over the field it espied a small snake not thicker than a man's finger and pounced upon it.

Driving Away Disease.

Well-known walkers have proved that the short cut to health is walking. Many of them say that through this exercise they have cured rheumatism, the exertion removing uric acid from the system. Another well-known pedestrian cured himself of Bright's disease by persisting in walking after being told that his cure was hopeless. I have known persons to cure persistent colds by vigorous walking. The exercise had the same result as a Turkish bath. Needless to say that one should not linger in the damp clothes when the walk is finished. They should be removed and a hot bath taken, followed by a cold shower.—Exchange.

Fruit-Eating and Water-Drinking.

Most fruits contain from 75 to 95 per cent water, and a balance of woody fiber, or cellulose, fruit sugar and minerals. Thus the free use of fruit daily insures a greater supply of water to the body. The cellulose of the fruit supplies the bulk and a mechanical stimulation which promotes waste elimination. Acid fruits, such as oranges, lemons, limes and most cherries, contain a certain chemical compound called "vitamines," in a very stable form. These vitamins are believed to purify the blood and to prevent scurvy and various skin diseases.—Popular Science Monthly.

Milton's Busy Day.

Milton White, colored, pretty near monopolized the entire blotter at Second police station last night. Milton is in jail and the following charges are booked opposite his name along down the blotter: Bringing more than a quart of ardent spirits into Virginia; drunk and disorderly; stealing $4 in currency from John Henderson; assault and battery on the person of his wife, Kate; contempt of court; carrying concealed weapons.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Not Discouraged.

Bill—"This paper says that many of the fish in the ocean are blind." Gill—"Oh, well, you're not going to discourage me. Maybe they can smell the bait."—Yonkers Statesman.

Beware of Closed Mind.

Beware of the closed mind. This sounds like a paradox when addressed to young men, yet it will, I think, bear examination. It is a truism to say that the danger of maturity, and especially of age, is the closing of the mind to new ideas. Habit, most powerful of influences, hard experience the very passage of the years, all alike tend to stiffen the muscles and to harden the arteries of the mind as they do those of the body. It is a misfortune with which advancing age must struggle, and the effort is severe and too often either neglected or fruitless.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of red hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.
